The harrowing of hell James Orchard Halliwell-Phillipps
(...) INTRODUCTION.

"THOSE who take a real interest in the theatrical representations of our country, will willingly be at the pains to peruse the earliest existing dramatic composition in the English language. Such is the " Harrowing of Hell," set forth in the following pages,—a most singular specimen of the difference between the taste of our ancestors of the fourteenth century and our own. What the readers of modern comedy will say to the miserable doggerel of the contest between Jesus and Satan, I know not; but its extreme curiosity and intrinsic historical value ought to place the consideration of its poetical beauties entirely out of the scale; and I venture to hope that the modern version which accompanies this most interesting relic of our forefathers, will contribute its mite (...)"
