Does parenting ever feel like a never-ending wave of challenges, conflicts, and catastrophes? Or do you simply find yourself wondering if there is anything to be learned from the past in how we approach our relationships with our children in today's world?

Philosopher Win Wu-Wei invites you to look at parenting not as endless strife, but an endless opportunity to practice patience, closeness, and kindness, not just with our children, but with ourselves.

With a modern, gentle interpretation of Lao Tzu's classic text on life and how to live it, Wei unwraps the Tao Te Ching and applies it to the intricate, immersing, and immensely satisfying experience that is parenting, with words of wisdom that will appeal to every parent or parent-to-be seeking guidance from the ancients for how to be the kind of parent our children are drawn to.
